DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's amendments and accompanying remarks filed 6/6/03 have been entered and carefully considered. Applicant's amendment is not found to patently distinguish the claims over the prior art and Applicant's arguments are not found persuasive of patentability for reasons set forth herein below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

3. Claims 1-4, 6-8, 10-17, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gardill (5614285) in view of Hawley's Condensed Chemical Dictionary (HCCD), as set forth in the previous three actions.

Applicant has amended the claims to specify that the molded functional element is a fixing strip or a rib. Gardill teaches molding the panel into various shapes including a fixing strip and rib (fig. 3).

Applicant argues that Gardill is limited to the creation of an interior door panel, floor panel, and rear deck storage panel and, as such, does not teach the functional structures of the instant invention. However, it is the examiner's position that the panel of Gardill is used as a functional structure because it provides support and also functions in sound absorption.

Moreover, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Here, the combination set forth by the examiner teaches every element of applicant's claim and is capable of use as a functional structure.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
